Aktuelle Informationen
zur Raumbellegung und Anwesenheitserfassung
während der Pandemie:

The treemap visualization displays a hierarchical structure of data, organized into a grid-like layout. The root node, labeled 'Data', occupies the top-left corner and is the largest, representing 100% of the total area. It branches into two main categories: 'Training' (60%) and 'Testing' (40%). The 'Training' category further branches into 'Train' (30%) and 'Validation' (30%). The 'Testing' category branches into 'Test' (20%) and 'Dev' (20%). Each of these branches into numerous sub-nodes, representing a deep hierarchy of data categories. The nodes are colored in shades of gray, with the root node being the darkest and the leaf nodes being the lightest. The treemap is organized into a grid-like structure, with the root node at the top left and the leaf nodes at the bottom right.
